SUMMER: The summer months will be upon us very quickly. Make sure to protect yourself from excessive heat and exhaustion. Most worry about the winter months, but the heat of the summer can be just as debilitating and dangerous, not to mention the many unscrupulous vendors and sales people that may appear at your door or through the phone and internet. When in doubt about any offer or pressure by any individual or organization, no matter how legitimate they may appear, please make sure to call your respective municipality or company represented and speak with their representative or legal person. If you are in doubt, call your local police department, they are there to protect and serve you in any way possible.
